During my academic journey at Sultan Qaboos University, my understanding of emerging technologies and their educational applications expanded significantly. In addition, teaching experiences gained through school visits helped me develop strong classroom management and teaching skills, ensuring effective and active learner engagement.

I completed a two-month training at Sultan Qaboos Naval Academy in 2025, where I worked in the E-Learning Department. During this training, I gained experience in instructional design, using Moodle, designing and delivering training workshops, and developing an operational plan for the academy's library.
